The Drugstopper™

Even the fastest and most experienced raid entry team cannot prevent the suspects from flushing evidence down the toilet, and as a result months of planning and surveillance work can literally go down the drain.

Environmental Innovations Limited have designed, developed and patented a simple piece of portable equipment which can prevent this loss of vital evidence - the Drugstopper™

It's robust, but weighs less than two kilograms, it can be carried or worn by an officer using the special ballistic nylon shoulder strap. The design is as simple as it is effective, it takes seconds to insert the Drugstopper™ into the appropriate external drain, manually inflating the bladder with a few pumps of the handle will instantly seal off the pipe, thereby preventing anything from making it's way into the drainage system.

Any flushed evidence would remain trapped until the Drugstopper™ was removed. The Fire Service already use a similar product of our design to block drains and convert them into a containment vessel to prevent fire water run-off and foam from entering the water system.

With minimum training the Drugstopper™ will quickly establish itself as an essential part of the best practice Police raid kit, as vital as an Enforcer Door Ram or personal body armour.
